29 March 2018

Live with Nature. We all know and believe this fact. Important is whether we are working towards it enough. As long as we are driven by capitalism, consumerism and cronyism, we are not making enough efforts towards conservation. Earn less, consume lesser and crony least have to be the new mantra for the humanity.

28 December 2017

Hindutva Karan (butchering) of the Poor Voiceless Trees at my township... I couldn't do much except screaming at the insensitive management and the maali.. This happened last year and the year before too.. And m sure those idiot men are laughing behind me that they won over my voice for the trees...I know the trees need to be trimmed. But butchering them heartlessly is so inhuman. And the worst part is they will take the broken branches and leaves and burn them alive. And by the way this is under the instructions of so called educated rich men (no less than idiots) managing the society. I always have a grudge why MEN take the task of managing such township when WOMEN are more equipped to do so.

25 December 2017

Mother pigeon thinking of hatching baby pigeon at the office balcony. It has kind of become a trend for pigeons to hatch eggs at the balcony. Annually we have had at least two to three baby pigeons growing at the balcony and later flying in and out of the office to claim their domicile... Feels good to see them borne and later learn to fly ...

the world cuts 16 billion trees a year. if we can plant 66 million in half a day, its great! it will be good to revisit the plantation after a year and after five years to see how many survived out of 66 million. we are good in execution and weak in maintenance. so it will be logical if there is a maintenance plan put in place.
